

Draw an illustration

Think about where Erin lives and her longing to go out to sea. What is special about the sea? Who lives there?

Look closely at the fish that she is watching. Which do you like best? Why? Can you draw it? What is special about it compared with the others? What features will you include? Is it short and round or long and skinny? Is it plain or patterned? Is it alone or in a group? Maybe you would prefer to draw a sea bird instead. Can you see any in this illustration? How could you draw them? Once you have finished your drawing, write a sentence or two to go with it to explain why you chose this fish (or bird) to draw.
