The Passion Richmond follows the tradition of Easter Passion Plays performed around the world since the Middle Ages and presents the dramatic biblical events leading to the crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus.

This free outdoor performance is between 1pm and 2.30pm on Good Friday April 3rd 2015, and the audience is invited to join the action as it moves between the iconic setting of the Richmond Riverside, Whittaker Avenue and Heron Square, just off the town centre shopping street.

The performance, directed by former BBC Head of Series Peter Cregeen, involves local churches and community groups joining together to bring this central event of the Christian faith into the heart of Richmond.
